ONEPLUS 7T – VISUAL IDENTITY / LAUNCH EVENT KEYNOTE

DESIGN LEAD & ART DIRECTOR

The OnePlus 7T was the first product to compete with Apple, Samsung, and Google premium phone products. In order to stand out from the competition, I led a small design team to design a visual campaign that dismissed the blurry-rainbow-gradient visual trend of most tech/smartphone companies and built a visual branding system for OnePlus that relied heavily on a thoughtful color scheme and rigid typographic hierarchy. These guidelines allowed the system to be easily applied and establish a sense of cohesion across digital assets, packaging, press kits, and other collateral.

THE FUND FOR PRATT (PRATT INSTITUTE) – STRATEGY & MARKETING CAMPAIGN

DESIGN LEAD / STRATEGIST / CREATIVE DIRECTION

Built upon the idea of disseminating Pratt Institute's curriculum, the new Fund for Pratt campaign turns the fundraising department of Pratt Institute into a producer and publisher. Direct mail spotlights the work, theories, or criticisms by Pratt alumni, faculty, and students. Essays, manifestos, instructional art, concrete poetry, and much more subvert the expectations of what direct mail can be. The email campaign profiles those same alumni, faculty, and students' processes and practices. The branding is a simple nomenclature system, allowing the collateral to be a blank canvas for the featured artist/designer/author, while also framing the collateral as documents—or evidence—of a Pratt education and the good it is doing in the world, not exclusively on the Pratt campus.

The post discusses the evolution of industrial design and its relationship to architecture. It includes several architectural sketches of furniture pieces. The website has a clean, modern design with a green circular graphic element on the left side. The right sidebar lists other recent posts and links to the Fund's impact and support.

SPACESPACE – INFLATABLE ARCHITECTURE

CO-ORGANIZER / DESIGNER / FABRICATOR

I was a co-organizer and designer of SpaceSpaceSpace, a three-day gathering centered around alternative pedagogy, self-organizing, and exploring ways of disrupting the productions of knowledge within academic structures. Inflatable architecture was built to house the event and provide a stark contrast to the historic Cranbrook campus. It was also meant to be seen as ephemeral so that an urgency to establish and maintain a connection between Detroit initiatives and Cranbrook could be instilled.

The identity for 321 Gallery is based on the gallery's DIY approach to a white-collar profession, with the "logo" mimicking the gallery's architectural floor plan while dissonant typography conditionally brands both the gallery and their artists as one entity. Each iteration attempts to draw out eccentricities that are confrontational and memorable to their audience.

SCENES FROM A PAUSE
MAY 26–JULY 8, 2017
OPENING RECEPTION:
FRIDAY, MAY 26, 6–9 PM

Scenes From A Pause, exhibition view

Untitled (1), 2017. Cement board, baltic birch plywood, hardware. 62.25 x 112.25 x 6 inches

321 Gallery presents Scenes From A Pause, a solo exhibition by Jenni Crain. Drawing from architecture, Crain's work negotiates the conditions of a given or perceived space, often referring to the environment of the exhibition itself, as well as to the emotional associations to moments and memories of elapsed experience. Crain's allusions to time reflect upon and trace our intersecting and evolving relationships with place, perspective, and personal histories.

A pause, a momentary cessation of activation, becomes the site of presentation and observation in Crain's works. This fleeting moment is memorialized by virtue of the physicality of its representations and the effectual environmental shifts of their presence. These expressions, here and now, offer one particular experience, yet the imprints of inevitable, circumstantial flux will beckon another collection of impressions and interpretations. Their stagnation in a constant state of evolution.

The exhibition is comprised of four works. Three of these are untitled, with their definitions to be determined over the course of their comprehensive contexts. Two of these, sculptural works, Untitled (1) and Untitled (2), occupy opposite lateral planes that meet—the wall and the floor; the ground from which we gaze. Their forms mirror the spatial qualities of their surroundings and supports. Untitled (3), a framed, found photograph, depicts an unknown relative of the artist. The subject sits in a sling chair in a perceivably enclosed, outdoor environment. The

JEFFREY DEITCH IN CONVERSATION WITH STEFAN SAGMEISTER

A Pratt Presents President's Lecture and Surface Design Dialogues event
March 31, 7 PM
Pratt and Surface present a conversation between two luminaries of art and design, Jeffrey Deitch and Stefan Sagmeister. Creator of the influential Deitch Projects gallery, Deitch facilitated the rise of a new generation of artists for nearly 15 years. From 2010 to 2013, he served as director of the Museum of Contemporary Art in Los Angeles. Deitch is now working on bringing his influential Art in the Streets exhibition to New York. Sagmeister, a Pratt alumnus, is one of the most renowned graphic designers and typographers working today. He is co-founder of Sagmeister & Walsh, a design firm that creates identities, commercials, websites, apps, film books, and objects. Deitch and Sagmeister will speak with Spencer Bailey, editor-in-chief of Surface magazine, about Deitch's new book Lives the Art (Rizzoli), designed by Sagmeister.

BAM AND PRATT INSTITUTE PRESENT UNBOUND: PHILIP GLASS WITH KURT ANDERSEN

Co-presented with Greenlight Bookstore
April 20, 8 PM
Upon the publication of his new memoir, Words Without Music, Philip Glass, one of the most renowned and influential composers of this century, speaks about his life and career with writer, novelist, public radio host, and Pratt Trustee Kurt Andersen. A versatile composer whose works include symphonies, operas, film scores, and small-scale compositions, Philip Glass crafted the dominant sound of late 20th-century classical music. In Words Without Music (Liveright), he traces his artistic arc, from childhood in post-World War II Baltimore to student days in Chicago, to Juilliard, and his first journey to Paris, where he studied under the formidable composer/conductor Nadia Boulanger. In this new memoir, Glass movingly recalls his early mentors, while reconstructing the places that helped shape his artistic consciousness.

Tickets: $25 for event only and $45 with book, with a 15% discount for Pratt students and faculty (use code 5947 to take advantage of the discount; quantities are limited). For tickets, visit: bam.org/literary/2015/unbound-philip-glass

LOU SWITZER—
WELL-PREPARED PRATT GRADS
FAVORED AT PROGRESSIVE
INTERIOR ARCHITECTURE FIRM

Pratt School of Art alumnus Lou Switzer is founder, chairman, and chief executive officer of The Switzer Group, the nation's largest black-owned interior architectural design firm. Clients include Fortune 500 companies such as AMC Networks, Wells Fargo, and Consolidated Edison, and the firm has worked in industries ranging from finance, insurance, legal, media, entertainment, and technology to real estate, health care, education, and not-for-profit. The Switzer Group, listed among the country's top interior design firms, is celebrating its 40th anniversary this year.

That's an impressive number of years in business. What's equally impressive is that Switzer's first two clients, Citibank and IBM, are still on his roster. And his firm boasts an enviable level of repeat business; 80 percent of clients come back with additional projects. It's not magic; it simply stems from the inherent focus on relationship-building that is embedded in Switzer's business approach.

As he says, "When I built this firm, I not only wanted to create long-term relationships with our clients; I also wanted the same relationship with employees." Two of his longest-serving employees—Stewart Fishbein (B.Arch. '77) and Beth Holechek (B.Arch. '80)—are also Pratt graduates, and there are many other Pratt alumni in his organization. (His son Gregory Switzer [B.Arch. '93] also attended Pratt and served as a recent graduate trustee.)

Switzer's commitment to hiring Pratt grads stems from his assessment of their preparation: They know how to focus on the details, can do an admirable set of drawings, and understand both the technology and the design side of the business. "Today, more schools produce students fully able to contribute from the start, but Pratt has always graduated students ready to do good work the moment they arrive," he says.

There are a number of characteristics that define Switzer and his company. He and his staff listen closely and observe well. A hallmark of The Switzer Group is designing environments that reflect clients' organizational personalities as well as their workspace needs. Whether addressing interior design, planning, or real estate issues, Switzer's staffers strive to understand each client's goals and future plans. They do this by listening closely, presenting design alternatives, and then working with the client to determine a customized option that solves all problems related to space and is also tailored to the client's function, image, and operational objectives.

Switzer is as involved with his charitable efforts as he is hands-on with clients. "I respect the opportunities given to me, and I believe in giving back," he says. He was a founding member and a trustee of the ACE Mentor Program; he also has served on the board of directors of Bedford-Stuyvesant Restoration Corp. and the Make-A-Wish Foundation of Metro New York and Western New York, and on the board of trustees for the Design Industries Foundation Fighting AIDS. He is currently a member of the board of The Windward School.

Through his firm's range of clients, its staff, and its areas of focus, Switzer underscores his belief in diversity's power to elevate creativity and keep a business strong, as well as the importance of giving back—in countless ways—to the community.

MASTER OF ARCHITECTURE The School occupies a key position in design pedagogy in the global design community, the Pacific Rim, and Los Angeles in particular, drawing inspiration from the energy and dynamism of the city of itself.

Los Angeles is a complex laboratory for architectural innovation. Its unique culture and strategies are tested everyday. Blurred by a benign climate, and yet ever changing, Los Angeles is a city that has learned to take environmental and social cues from its surroundings. As Los Angeles is a highly original and experimental city that has consistently influenced the world, the school is an incubator for new ideas and practices. By locating our design research within the context of the city, we actively contribute to and construct the most vibrant environment of today, we actively contribute to and construct the most vibrant environment of today.

By locating our design research within the context of the city, we actively contribute to and construct the most vibrant environment of today, we actively contribute to and construct the most vibrant environment of today.

MASTER OF ARCHITECTURE • B PROGRAM The first level of the program is dedicated to introducing the essential knowledge and skills required for the NAAB accredited degree. The final level builds upon this background in a more specialized manner, emphasizing the ability to draw on the resources and inspiration of Los Angeles itself. Faculty record an average of 15 years of professional practice, the size of every graduate from the USC Master of Architecture Program is representative of the size of the 21st century.

Potential students may have a four-year undergraduate studies degree from a U.S. school with an accredited professional architecture program, or a five-year undergraduate studies degree that is accredited by a regional accrediting body, without an accredited professional architecture program, or an international program that is deemed

National Architectural Accrediting Board (NAAB) accreditation is required for all architecture programs. All students must matriculate in an accredited program to receive a degree. Students who are not currently enrolled in an accredited program may apply to the NAAB for accreditation. The National Architectural Accrediting Board (NAAB) is the sole agency authorized to accredit U.S. professional degree programs in architecture. The NAAB is a private, non-governmental organization that is responsible for the accreditation of architecture programs. The NAAB is a member of the Council of Architecture Accreditation (CAA). The CAA is a voluntary association of accreditation boards for architecture, engineering, and surveying. The NAAB is a member of the CAA.

MASTER OF ARCHITECTURE/MASTER OF PLANNING Graduates of this dual degree program will be prepared for careers in major urban development, planning and urban design, development, and design. The program is designed for students who are admitted to the graduate program in both the School of Architecture and the USC Price School of Public Policy. The dual degree requires 72 units, including 36 units in architecture and 36 units in planning.

The USC School of Architecture offers the following NAAB-accredited degree programs:
